

Guy Brown Office Building

Brentwood, Tennessee

Just south of the Brentwood/Old Hickory Blvd. exit on I65, look to your left and you'll see this distinctive building.

Because the site was difficult and the owner's vision for his building was unique, the project was a true collaboration of the talents of the owner, architect and contractor. For this project, the team was assembled very early in the process to evaluate the use, design and cost of each element. The result was a cost-efficient and interesting building.

"We got a great product and were very happy with the process." - Owner Jay Chawan
