

Hail and Cotton Warehouses

Springfield, Tennessee

Carden Company had built three similar buildings for Hail and Cotton, so when they decided they needed a fourth, they knew who to call.

Hail and Cotton wanted a large, durable, low-maintenance construction, but one that met their very specific requirements. Working with Butler Manufacturing to design a building to meet the owner's precise specifications, we were able to deliver a strong, reliable pre-engineered building that exactly suited their needs.