

Hail and Cotton Offices

Springfield, Tennessee

From building warehouses to expansions to re-roofing, Carden Company has been working with Hail and Cotton for 15 years on construction projects. So naturally they came to us when they wanted to expand and renovate their office space.

By building the new section first and being able to move the staff into it while renovating the old section, the business was able to operate throughout the process. And the two sides came together perfectly, inside and out - giving them double their old office space.

“Let’s just keep working together - that’s my only suggestion. It went great.” - Architect Jeff Hall

Link to more details.