Walgreens Drug Stores

Antioch, Franklin and Nashville Tennessee

Carden Company, Inc. began their relationship with Walgreens on the Franklin, Tennessee store - part of the drug store chain's national expansion. The managers of Walgreens construction projects were so pleased with Carden Company's ability to meet their tight schedules on that store that they came back to them for two other locations in Antioch and Nashville.

Those stores both presented site difficulties - unstable soils in Antioch and an enormous storm drain in an extremely inconvenient spot in Nashville. But for both, the problems were recognized and planned for early in the process and the always-tight schedule was met.

"They do a great job. I've been trying to get them to come over and do some projects somewhere else, because they've been, by far, the best contractor that we've used - and we've done these things all over the country." - Rich Magner of Morgan Property Group, construction manager for Walgreens
