

Llovett Sales

Nashville, Tennessee

This specialized manufacturing and distribution company was ready for a new, better building for their operations. They needed more space, better workflow and more efficient operations.

A pre-engineered structure was a good choice for them - good for size, for time and for budget. But also good for quality - the standing seam roof, for instance, minimizes the chance of leaks and is low maintenance. Now Llovett Sales has room to grow - in a building they own.