

Kenneth O. Lester Company

Central Services Facility
Lebanon, Tennessee

The Kenneth O. Lester Company was planning the construction of an office building/corporate headquarters on a site that had been part of the original campus of Castle Heights Military Academy. Early on, though, tested soil samples indicated the selected site wouldn't support a 2-story office building. Remedial work was in order: extensive excavation and rock fill was the solution.

The final product is an imposing triangular building designed to fit its surroundings with an elegant interior appropriate for a corporate home office.