

Middle Tennessee Prosthodontics

Nashville, Tennessee

This project on the edge of Brentwood was built as Old Hickory Boulevard was being expanded and raised. The changes caused by this major roadway project lead to extensive site preparation work and required an unusual level of design coordination between the owner, Metro Government of Davidson County, the City of Brentwood and the State of Tennessee.

This handsome medical office building is distinguished by its porte-cochere and automatic entry doors for patient drop off. The building is home to doctors, dentists and oral surgeons.
